Why you should participate

What our participants from last semester say about the project:

“Working with children is very enriching. You learn to enjoy life with more ease more often. Getting to know different life situations is very important in order to extend your horizon and to get out of your student bubble.”

“It was really eye-opening and helps you to get a different perspective on the world and to pay more attention to other people. You also learn a lot of soft skills in dealing with a colourful group of people.”
