

LET'S TALK!

RACISM IN THE U.S.

student discussion group

LET'S TALK! RACISM IN THE U.S.

The recent protests in the wake of the death of George Floyd have shown once again the deep racial divide in the U.S. and posed many questions.

How come that the category race and subsequently racism is so deeply embedded in U.S. society that it affects your life chances from cradle to grave?

At the department of American Studies, we seek to establish a discussion group to explore, cultivate dialogue, listen, and learn more about race and racism in the U.S. Our group is for students and open to anyone who would like to join in discussions, book readings, film screenings, etc. We provide an open and safe space to exchange ideas & experiences and connect with other people. In our first meeting, we will determine together topics and subjects to discuss and investigate throughout the following semester.

JOIN IN AND LET'S TALK!

WHEN every second Wed., starting Oct. 20, 2021, 4.00-6.00 pm

WHERE via Zoom, please register via Stud.IP (course no. 46598)

external guests via fricke18@ads.uni-passau.de

SPONSORED BY THE Federal Ministry of Education and Research